

Tuition fees and examination fees 2020-2021

Version 25 September 2019

Statutory tuition fees for funded study programmes

Students who join a Bachelor' degree or associate degree study programme for the first time from the 2018-2019 academic year onwards will be eligible for the reduced statutory tuition fees (if they meet the requirements for statutory tuition fees). The reduced statutory tuition fees only apply for the first twelve uninterrupted months of the enrolment as a student. Students can only apply for the reduced statutory tuition fees for two twelve-month periods on an uninterrupted enrolment as a student if they are enrolled in the teacher training programme (the Educational exemption category).

The reduced statutory tuition fees are 50% of the normal statutory tuition fees and amount to €1,071.50, with the exception of the Hotel Management programme for which reduced statutory tuition fees of €2,278.50 apply. This is in connection with the special distinction 'small-scale, intensive education', as awarded by the Accreditation Organisation of the Netherlands and Flanders (NVAO).

Students of the Hotel Management programme who were enrolled for the academic year 2019-2020 before 31 August 2020 and for whom the period of twelve months has not yet elapsed will be charged tuition fees of €1,675. This is in connection with the transitional arrangement for reduced statutory tuition fees for small-scale, intensive education (WHW, Article 7.1c).

Full-time study programmes

The statutory tuition fees for a student on a funded full-time study programme amount to €2,143, with the exception of the full-time study programme:

- a. Hospitality Management intake as of the academic year 2014-2015, which amount to €3,350.

The 'Wet kwaliteit in verscheidenheid' (Act on quality in diversity) allows study programmes that are deemed 'excellent' in the opinion of the Accreditation Organization of the Netherlands and Flanders (NVAO) to differentiate tuition fees on the basis of 'small-scale, intensive education'.

Part-time study programmes

The statutory tuition fees for a student on a funded part-time study programme amount to €1,643, with the exception of the part-time study programme:

- a. Master of Architecture, which amount to €2,143.

The Master of Architecture is subject to the national statutory tuition fees for full-time study programmes.

Dual study programmes

The statutory tuition fees for a student on a funded dual study programme amount to €2,143.

Institutional tuition fees for funded study programmes

If a student does not meet the requirements as laid down in Article 7.1., paragraphs 1 and 2 of Chapter 7 of the Regulations on Enrolment and Tuition Fees, then he or she must pay institutional tuition fees.

The institutional tuition fees for students in funded Bachelor's and Master's programmes depends on the classification of the study programme in the rate groups that are used for government funding. The rates for the 2020-2021 academic year are as follows:

Low	€8,100
High	€9,800
Top	€11,100

The classification of the study programmes in the rates groups is listed in the table of page 4.

A transition scheme applies for current students. Current students joined before the 2019-2020 academic year and have not interrupted their studies. The transition rates are based on the institutional tuition fees for the 2019-2020 academic year, indexed in accordance with the statutory tuition fees and rounded to €50 increments. The transitional rate is €7,900 with the exception of the following:

- a. Hospitality Management intake, which amount to €9,050.
The 'Wet kwaliteit in verscheidenheid' (Act on quality in diversity) allows study programmes that are deemed 'excellent' in the opinion of the Accreditation Organization of the Netherlands and Flanders (NVAO) to differentiate tuition fees on the basis of 'small-scale, intensive education'.
- b. Master of Music, which amount to €7,700.
- c. Midwifery, which amount to €9,400.
As the study programme in Midwifery requires significant funding, it is subject to the high institutional tuition fees.

The transition scheme has a maximum duration of five years. If you fall under the transitional arrangement and have to deregister as a student for more than one academic year due to illness, you can submit a request to the Director of the academy to be eligible to pay the transitional fees again. The transitional arrangement lapses from 2024-2025, and all students will pay the new institutional tuition fees from that moment on.

Institutional fees for non-funded study programmes

Full-time study programmes

The institutional tuition fees for a student on a non-funded full-time study programme amount to:

- a. Master of Facility and Real Estate Management €9,950
 - The Master of Facility and Real Estate Management is subject to 'all-in' tuition fees that also cover the fees payable to the University of Greenwich (€1,500 for each student).
 1. The final thesis is the final stage of the one-year programme. If the submitted final thesis is given a non-passing mark, it can be corrected within two months and resubmitted without extra tuition fees being owed. If the resubmitted final thesis is given another non-passing mark, a third opportunity can be given to hand in either a new final thesis or to hand in another corrected version of the original final thesis. In both cases for this extra opportunity, €2,500 in extra tuition fees is owed.
 2. Zuyd Alumni will receive a €2,000 discount on the institutional tuition fee of €9,950.
- b. Master of Fine Art and Design €9,950
 - A student following the Master of Arts in Fine Art and Design pays 'all-in' tuition fees.

Part-time study programmes

The institutional tuition fees for a student on a non-funded part-time study programme amount to:

- a. Master of Personal Leadership in Innovation and Change (€25,000)
 - Due to the modular structure of the study programme, a student will follow most of the programme by enrolling as a participant in a course. A person wishing to follow the Master class in Masterpiece must enrol as a student in order to be registered in 'BRON-HO' (the Dutch database for higher education) as a student. A person wishing to be enrolled as a student must pay institutional tuition fees amounting to €1,040. If a student has already paid the institutional tuition fees amounting to €25,000 (for the entire study programme), he or she will receive a discount on the payable tuition fees. Zuyd Alumni and staff members will receive a 10% discount.

The structure of the costs is included in the table below.

Examination fees for external students

Full-time study programmes

The examination fees for an external student on a full-time study programme amount to €2,143, with the exception of the full-time programme:

a. Hospitality Management intake as of the academic year 2014-2015, which amount to €3,350.

- The 'Wet kwaliteit in verscheidenheid' (Act on quality in diversity) allows study programmes that are deemed 'excellent' in the opinion of the Accreditation Organization of the Netherlands and Flanders (NVAO) to differentiate tuition fees on the basis of 'small-scale, intensive education'. This applies to the study programme in Hotel Management.

Part-time study programmes

The examination fees for an external student on a part-time study programme amount to €1,643, with the exception of the full-time programme:

b. Master of Architecture, which amount to €2,143.

- The Master of Architecture is subject to the national statutory tuition fees for full-time study programmes.

Dual study programmes

The examination fees for an external student on a dual study programme amount to €2,143.

Transition programme

The payment in the sense of Article 7.5 concerns a proportional part of the statutory tuition fees, with the maximum being the full statutory tuition fees.
